

PRESS RELEASE

For immediate release

Esctoday.com provides most extensive online Eurovision coverage ever

6 MAY 2005 – For the third consecutive time, esctoday.com will cover the preparations for the Eurovision Song Contest live from Kyiv, Ukraine. A team of 9 people will be live and present to cover all rehearsals, press conferences, parties and other Eurovision Song Contest related events in Kyiv in the period of 10-22 May.

In addition to our regular coverage of news and exclusives for our website users, esctoday.com provides editorial services to other media companies and news services in relation to the Eurovision Song Contest. For more information about editorial services you can contact Chief Editor Sietse Bakker (sietse@esctoday.com) or Press Officer Barry Viniker (barry@esctoday.com).

Editorial and consultancy services

Do you need editorial assistance to cover the Eurovision Song Contest? We realize that it is expensive to send out an editor to cover the contest live from the spot. We would be happy to assist you with it through our editorial services. In case you need advice, please contact us and we will tell you more about our consultancy services.

Photography

For the third year running, esctoday.com will be working closely with Interlize Media Solutions. This Dutch-based company delivers professional photography service, which is also available to other media services. For more information about photography services, both from stock as well as on request can be obtained through Lisanne Visser (lisanne.visser@interlize.net).

About us

Esctoday.com is the most visited independent Eurovision Song Contest website. More than 30 editors from all over the world deliver daily news about the contest, national selections and (former) participants. The website has more than 14,000 subscribed members and membership is growing daily. Esctoday.com is a project co-owned by Interlize (interlize.net) and MediaBattery (mediabattery.com).
